

Ask Seanlai (Shawn-Lee) about communication. You'll get a giant smile, dynamic energy, and a lively discussion of how PRO communication will make every facet of your career and life more engaging, fun, and successful. She should know! As an award-winning female CEO of Divirsus, a national general construction firm, she's had to master competent, energetic communication!

Seanlai is credited with the concept of PROclivities communication. It's been said, "People's lives and careers are happier, more PROsperous and they have better relationships at work and home once they learned to play like a PRO."

Described as energetic and fearless, Seanlai's unconventional, innovative business practices and leadership have earned her numerous awards, including a spot on the Inc. 500/5000 list, a Rising Star Award, and a feature in Forbes Magazine. Her single-minded vision for the power of competent communication compelled her to take what she already knew and research leaders and companies that thrive in all seasons. She has discovered some remarkable patterns of how they think, act and communicate. Always overflowing with creativity, Seanlai has cracked the code and developed unique offerings that allow organizations to quickly build employee and client brand loyalty, enhance leadership skill, sales, and make more money!

Seanlai delivers high-energy keynotes and workshops on the transformative power of PROclivity communication that shows audiences how to connect the best with the people that matter most! Much more than a "feel good" session, audiences love her Boost Your Brilliance programs with PRO strategies that leave them energized and motivated to take their business and lives to the next level! Her outgoing, infectious personality makes her a keynote and breakout session speaker that corporations and meeting planners can count on to bring excitement and energy to any program!